LARGEST FARM IN THE BUCKEYE STATE

Tucker-Anthony Syndicate May Raise Potatoes Upon Its Right of Way.

The Tucker-Anthony syndicate which recently purchased of the N. O. T. Co. the Canton and Massillon lines, the Canton-Akron and the C. M. & A. now has on its hands a farm 30 miles long and 60 feet wide, which was included in the sale of the C. M. & A.

The News-Democrat, of Canton, tells all about the farm as follows:

The company has on its hands a Y shaped farm, and branches running from Canton and Massillon and uniting out in Jackson township, thence on to Akron. There are two or three links missing, it is said, that have never been purchased, but if they are secured the company would have a farm about 60 feet wide and 25 or 30 miles long.

There is some talk of fencing the land off and planting it in potatoes. It is thought that cultivation of the crop could be made very economical. The plowing would be easy. The man-behind-the-plow could leave Canton in the morning and go through to Akron the same day, stopping at some half-way house for dinner. The next day he could come back.

POOR PEOPLE

Will Receive the Fortune of
"Apple Mary."

Versailles, Ky., Mar. 4.—Lewis Har-

Just as soon as it can be figured out what will become of the man-with-the-hoe and the fellow who starts to pick up a row of potatoes, Secretary Kolp will make some definite arrangements for putting out the elongated spring crop.

The right-of-way was not purchased as such rights usually are. The conditions generally are that when the land is abandoned for railway purposes it reverts to the original landowners. In this instance the Northern Ohio Traction company bought the land outright and secured warranty deeds for the same. When it was transferred to Tucker, Anthony & Co., these Eastern capitalists became seized of agricultural opportunities that they little dreamed of, and the matter of taking care of them is up to the company.

The farmers along the right of way who have been consulted, state that they will not pay the company anything like the price they received to get the land back. They unloaded at a good figure and do not propose to "renege," preferring a lane through their farms to giving back the coin that is now in bank.

Mary's fortune will come to Youngstown. Mrs. Mary Moran and her son, Edward, are the heirs. The fortune is secured after a long and bitter fight, in which a will was sought to be probated in New York by other claimants, but the Courts refused to probate it, giving the property to the Morans. "Apple Mary" was a noted character in Brooklyn. For nearly 50 years she sold apples and other small fruit in the street, and accumulated a fortune of something like $50,000. The Morans are poor people.

STILL LOOKING

For Some One Who Lost Pack- age of Dry Goods.

Now and again one hears some pessimist say that there are no honest people in the world now a days. The following incident proves the falsity of such a declaration.

Mrs. O. W. Williams, of Sumner st., found a package of dry goods on Spicer st., one day last summer. Though the package contained goods that she might easily have used, and which would have been of great assistance to her, as she has no more of this world's goods than she needs, she has kept the package inviolate all these months in the hope that she would one day find the owner.

Mrs. Williams' motive was not to receive a reward for honesty, as she believes the package belonged to some poor person. As it contained a bill for $5 which had been paid in small payments of $1 and less.

RESIGNED

His Job as Coun- cilman.

Mr. Langdon Says He Can't Attend.

Names of Those Who Have Not Missed a Meeting.

Mr. W. E. Langdon has resigned as Councilman from the Third ward. He stated that he could not attend the meetings regularly. The resignation was accepted, to take effect April 21, when the new Council will be organized. Mr. Langdon was elected for two years.

This means that there will be nine new Councilmen to elect this spring. Mr. Langdon's resignation did not come as a surprise, because it has been known for some time that he contemplated resigning.

After the adjournment of Council Monday evening, the question of attendance upon the meetings was discussed. It is regretted by nearly all that there is so much dilatoriness on the part of some in attending the sessions, and an attempt will be made this spring to elect only such persons as can attend regularly. As it is now, there is great difficulty in securing quorums, it being necessary to recess and hold meetings nearly every week. All the members have not been present at the same time more than twice during the past year.

However, there are several who have not missed a meeting. They are: Messrs. Walker, Martin, Piske, Winum and Linehan. Mr. Merz missed one session, and Mr. Gauthier has a good record for regular attendance. Messrs. Rice, Seidell and Sorrick have also been faithful attendants, but the others are uncertain.
